River Pang at Barn Elms is the hidden jewel in Royal Berkshire.

Barn Elms Farm is lucky enough to have approx. 900m of the River Pang flowing through its water meadows situated on a working farm in the idyllic Pang Valley where beauty and tranquillity abound. The River Pang is intimate with nooks and crannies, suitable for both expert and novice anglers alike, match your skills against our hard fighting fish you will always have plenty of active stalking to do for trout. The Pang has an average depth of 2 feet with some deeper pools and an abundance of aquatic life, mature trees and a very atmospheric ambience.

The River has some natural stock and is stocked during the season with energetically fighting Brown Trout. We offer a relaxed friendly atmosphere with help and advice should you need it. There is easy parking so we are a great place to enjoy your sport and to spend a day with us or just a few precious hours away from it all.
